Dear Mr. Azpuru-Bernhard:

Since my husband is deep in a book the deadline for which has passed, I am taking the liberty of acknowledging your kind letters of March 17, which we very much appreciate. Under separate cover I am forwarding to you a supply of the yellow forms which you suggested we send you.

The discounts we offer are: In wholesale quantities, 50%; in less than wholesale lots and to retailers, 1 or 2 copies, 25%, 3 or 4 copies, 33-1/3%, and 5 or more, 40%. Shipping charges are added.

We very much appreciate your kindness in supplying names and addresses of companies for us to contact and your willingness to be helpful. As soon as my husband can find the time, I am sure he will be glad to follow up on these.

In the meantime, he is working too hard and too long for he is far behind in his writing; as you know, WHITEWASH III was promised for February publication and has had to be postponed because of continuing research and unanticipated interruptions and delays. One other book was to have been finished last Friday, and is still unfinished although we hope to get it done by the end of this week; another is due the first of April, and it can't possibly be completed by then. Since we are only two people, we are somewhat handicapped in turning out the quantities of work that in an office would require a staff of workers.

In any event, we are grateful to you for your interest. If the supply of yellow slips is not sufficient, I will be glad to send you more.

Sincerely,

Lillian Weisberg
